DEFENDANT, MICHAEL C. FURMAN, AND PLAINTIFF'S CORRECTED JOINT DISCOVERY PREHEARING MEMORANDUM

Defendant, Michael C. Furman (“Mr. Furman”) and Plaintiff, Securities and Exchange Commission (“Plaintiff”), jointly file this Corrected Discovery Pre-Hearing Memorandum, and certify that they have complied with the requirements for pre-hearing consultation contained in the Court’s Standing Discovery Order. The parties file this Corrected memorandum, as the Joint Discovery Memorandum previously filed with the Court at D.E. 860 inadvertently included a non-final draft that did not reflect the parties’ final language. Despite good faith efforts to resolve their differences, the following issues require resolution by the Court:

1. Whether the SEC is required to answer to the Interrogatories and Request for Production served by Defendant Furman. The SEC believes no response is necessary as the discovery was served approximately a month after the discovery deadline had closed. Defendant contends that the discovery was issued on an untimely basis in reliance on statements from SEC’s counsel, and as a result should be allowed. The SEC disputes this. Defendant relies solely on an email for his position about this agreement. The email was sent by SEC counsel to Defendant's counsel during a phone call during which Defendant's counsel was conferring only about whether the SEC would object to Mr. Furman seeking discovery out of time from third parties through subpoenas to those third parties, or to taking the depositions of various third parties. The SEC contends there was no conferral or discussion, let alone agreement, concerning discovery against the SEC after discovery closed and while the SEC was preparing for trial, and this was never contemplated when the email was sent.

2. Whether the substance of the Interrogatories is proper. The SEC asserts that the Interrogatories are objectionable as they request nothing more than work product, explanation of documents produced by the Receiver and that Defendants have already been given all relevant documents on which the SEC intends to rely and have met all their discovery obligations as to Defendants. Defendant maintains that understanding the factual basis of the SEC's claims does not implicate work product concerns.

Copies of the relevant discovery requests are attached.
