RE: Securities and Exchange Commission v. Complete Business Solutions Group, Inc.,
Case No. 9:20-cv-81205-RAR, RESPONSE to Docket Nos. 2239 & 2243

Dear Judge Ruiz,

I am Jason Zuena, and I write on behalf of myself and my wife, Ann-Marie Zuena. We were investors in the AGM I fund. We understand that investors in this fund will potentially be excluded from filing a late claim and participating in any future distributions for this action.

We request that the Court permit us to file a late claim, accept the supporting documentation accompanying that claim, and allow the Receiver to evaluate it on the merits.

The claim was not omitted through any voluntary abandonment of our rights. We did not knowingly waive our right to seek recovery from the receivership estate. Our claim was either not filed on our behalf, or it was filed with defect and excluded, by our investment advisor, or any person acting in connection and on behalf of the AGM Fund investment program.

If others were responsible for transmitting, preserving, or providing information needed for inclusion in the claims process, that failure should not be charged against us. Especially given the recent legal history of Vincent Camarda and his business partner Anthony Zingarelli via Millenium Holdings, I have no choice other than to conclude the omission of the AGM Fund investors was done either with malicious intent and/or collusion of the same.

As I'm sure this Court is aware, those of us who have invested with Vincent Camarda and his firm A.G. Morgan Financial have suffered devastating loss from his criminal malice (ref: E.D.N.Y. No. 26-CR-51). Homes have been lost, families uprooted, retirements now unable to be reached, college funds depleted, and the list goes on. I personally know many of the investors, and we are all hard-working people who struggle to make ends meet. We are not hedge funds, investment houses or corporate entities that can simply write these losses off of our books. Our losses have real-life consequences that we are being forced to live with. The potential of even a small partial recovery from the fraud perpetuated upon us is a glimmer of hope in what has become a sea of darkness.

Please allow us an opportunity to file a claim and have a chance of recovery.

Sincerely,

J. Zuena
Jason Zuena
